

UITableViewController

classDiagram
    class UITableViewController
    class ProfileViewController
    ProfileViewController --|> UITableViewController

The diagram illustrates a class hierarchy. At the top is the 'UITableViewController' class, represented by a white box with a thin black border and three horizontal internal dividers. Below it is the 'ProfileViewController' class, represented by a gray box with a thick black border and three horizontal internal dividers. A blue arrow with an open triangular head points from the 'ProfileViewController' box up to the 'UITableViewController' box, indicating that 'ProfileViewController' inherits from 'UITableViewController'.
