

UITableViewController

```
classDiagram
    class UITableViewController
    class TripsViewController
    TripsViewController --|> UITableViewController
```

The diagram illustrates a class hierarchy. At the top is the 'UITableViewController' class, represented by a white box with a thin black border and three horizontal sections. Below it is the 'TripsViewController' class, represented by a gray box with a thick black border and three horizontal sections. A blue arrow with an open triangular head points from the top of 'TripsViewController' to the bottom of 'UITableViewController', indicating that 'TripsViewController' inherits from 'UITableViewController'.

TripsViewController